GLENN CASE NEARING CLOSE. Evidence All In and Arguments Will Begin To-Day.

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 24.-The evidence in the Ellis Glenn case is all in, the inst witness having been heard just before dence in the Eilis Glenn case is all in, the last witness having been heard just before adjournment to-day, and the arguments will begin to-morrow morning.

EPUBLIC SPECIAL.

If the questions of the counsel for the defense can be depended upon, the defense will argue that the present defendant is not the Eilis Glenn who was brought here from Illinois to answer to the charge of forgery, but that some other person has been substituted for Eilis Glenn, just as she claims to have been substituted for Eilbert in Illinois, in some mysterious manner. Eilis Glenn was in a hospital here for a month or two during and after her illness with typhoid, and for a year has been under a small bond.

The witnesses for the State have testified that she had, when she came here, certain scars which they describe and which correspond to those on Eilbert Glenn, and that she did not limp.

The witnesses for the defense testify that she limps now, and has not these scars.

In addition to this, the counsel for the defense made two State witnesses state in cross-examination to-day that they could not tell positively whether the person on trial is the same person who was brought here from Illinois. All these things indicate that the defense will attempt to argue that this defendant is not the person who was indicted, and to make a second mysterious Eilis Glenn case of identity.

Several witnesses for the State on rebuttal to-day testified that Ellis Glenn did not limp when brought here, and one, a Deputy Sheriff, who saw her daily in the jail, said she had the crescent-shaped scar on her head which was described as being on Eibert's head.

The "Johnny" Glenn story of one witness for the defense was disposed of by a witness who knew both Eibert and Johnny at the same time, and knew them to be different persons.

The State had several witnesses who swore they would not believe on oath Dec-tor Howard, who testified to treating Glenn, The defense had several who swore to his good character. By which the Wabash is known, was in-augurated for just such weather as this to enable St. Louis people to reach the cool resorts of the East and Seashore.

MADE A SIEVE OF HIS BREAST. George St. Clair Stabbed Himself

at No. 411 South Sixth street, with the intention of piercing his heart and ending his life. The knife blade several times perforated the lung near the heart, and twice it grazed the covering of the heart, but not one of the stab wounds touched a fatal spot. The man is at the City Hospital.

St. Clair thinks that an ominous fate hangs over him, which condemns everything he attempts to an unfortunate ending. He says that first stroke of ill luck came ten years ago in Boston, Mass., when his wife left him. He then came West, but states that somehow he could never obtain the comfidence of employers and as a consequence had difficulty in holding positions.

The Cool Northern Route, Which is the Wahash, will take you to the famous White Mountains, where the tem-perature is at this time delightful.
